Haven't mentioned the word "renaissance" of late, but what else would we call the sweeping changes in Cameron?

It comes in the time of women's ascendency, marked by the butterfly sign of women's lib; technical containment and career frustration for men; Texas' rise to fourth in population among the 50 states and industrial prowess; internationalization of the New World, now older; secular awareness of the Church, spiritual denouement of the State, a raft of innovations in contemporary agriculture and commerce, a fragmentation of our body politic.

What is happening time and again was supposed not to happen, by any measure of precedent in this county. But, by the measure of all contemporary experience, we are not so different, so far from the main stream of American life after all.

We can agree, I think, it is exciting. Cameron has modern style.

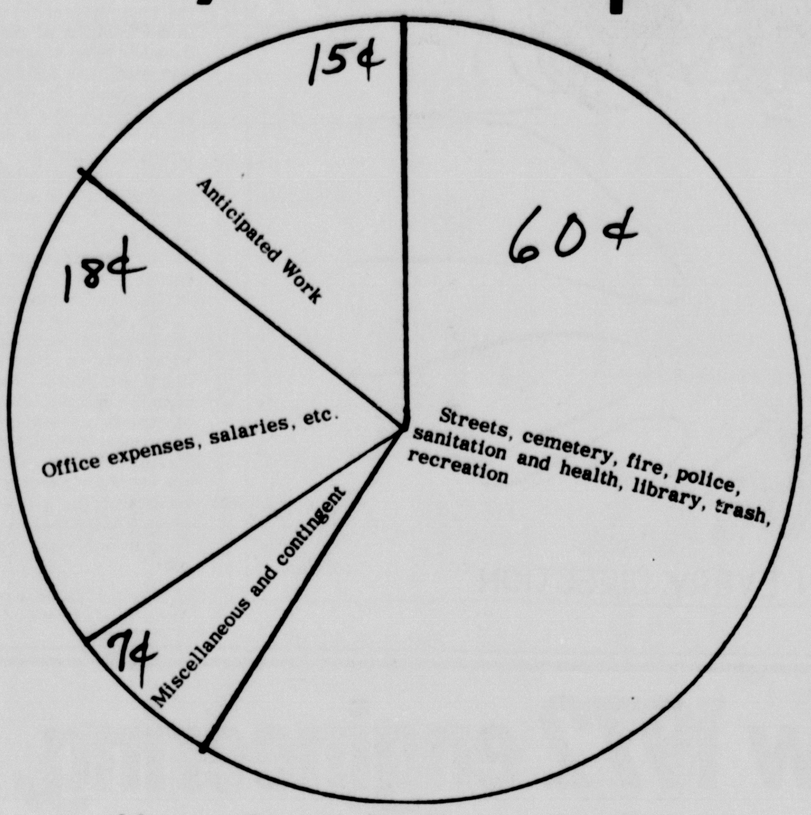
City Adopts $330,595 Budget



How City's Dollar Is Spent

The city council meeting in a short regular session Tuesday evening adopted a $330,595 budget for 1971-72. This is $28,544 more than last year's budget of $302,051.

The budget estimates income from taxes from assessed valuations, less allowances, at $78,002, plus $51,655 carried over from the general fund for a total of $129,658.

Other revenues include an estimated $55,000 from the one percent sales tax for a total $200,937. Revenues also include deliquent taxes, police fines, revenue from street department, garbage collections, electrical and plumbing inspections, and transfers from water and sewer department bonds, among others.

Estimated expenses for the street department are $56,224. This includes labor, gas and oil, miscellaneous supplies, insurance, materials, street lights, major repairs and tires, and new equipment.

The cemetery expense is budgeted at $4,238.

Fire department is budgeted at $15,171. This includes truck driver, fire marshall, repairs and supplies, training school, etc., and a fund for a new fire truck.

Police department expenses are estimated at $46,798. Salaries, supplies, prisoner food, uniform allowance, repairs, radio installation and repairs, stop signs, and a new police car are included in the total.

Salaries for city hall employees, the mayor and councilmen total $25,496, and utilities $15,000.

Sanitation department $57,334, including labor, gas and oil, supplies, insurance, fogging materials, repairs, hiring machinery, and new equipment.

Recreation department totals $2,824, including repairs of playground equipment, labor, repairs, additional lights, etc.

Salaries for the city judge and city attorney total $3,000; while $1,440 is budgeted for the county health unit and $3,500 for the public library.

Office expense for the city offices are $12,836, which includes printing, stamps and supplies, janitor, audit, maps, supplies, machine service, insurance, etc.

In the miscellaneous category for $10,276 are election expense, equalization board, membership in League of Texas Municipalities, electrical and plumbing inspections, social security, and night watchman's clock.

The trash department is budgeted at $11,546, and includes labor, gas and oil, supplies, insurance, repairs and tires, and new equipment.

The contingent fund is set at $16,589.

The anticipated schedule of work calls for $48,319. This includes street paving, furniture at city hall, Ledbetter Park improvement, urban renewal project to put on time deposit, pledge to the Industrial Foundation, payment for sanitary land fill, repairs on library, and a transfer to the sewer department.

In other business the council heard City Atty. Ed Magre recommend creation of a new mobile home ordinance and will present his suggestions at the next meeting.

They also discussed the ragged look of some of the lots at Oak Hill Cemetery and Mayor E. A. Perrin suggested that some organization should attend to keeping the cemetery neater.

Salvation Army Ready To Help

(Second in a series of articles about local organizations funded by Cameron United Fund. A drive for $10,400 will start in October.)

The Salvation Army is one of six agencies supported locally by the United Fund. An allocation of $2100 has been made for next year's budget.

Other agencies that will benefit are Little League, Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Community Center, and Day Care Center.

Hundreds of people, local and transients, were helped by the Salvation Army in Cameron last year, receiving emergency aid.

This past summer, several local boys attended Camp Hoblitzelle, a Salvation Army facility at Midlothian near Dallas. They enjoyed a week-long outing at the modern camp free of charge.

Local services are carried out directly by the Service Unit Committee, which represents the Salvation Army in smaller cities. Help is also available from the state level of the Salvation Army.

Forrest Sapp is chairman of the local Service Unit, which includes representatives from local churches, the county welfare department, and local law enforcement officials.

Of funds allocated, one-third remains with the Service Unit for its local welfare program and two-thirds are reserved for the Salvation Army's broad statewide services in which the local community is entitled to share.

Depending upon the immediate need, the local Service Unit will pay for groceries, lodgings, utility bills, rent, or minor medical or dental expenses.

The Service Unit has provided furniture for families whose homes were destroyed by fire, paid bus fares or bought gas for stranded transients, along with food. Other help included buying school supplies for children whose families were having financial problems.

State Salvation Army services are available for problems that cannot be handled by the Service Unit committee alone. A community struck by a tornado or flood, for example, would need the statewide help of the Salvation Army to get effective relief.

When disaster strikes, the Salvation Army is already there in the presence of officers and/or volunteers in over 550 communities. Thirteen mobile Disaster Relief Canteens, strategically located, are ready to converge on the scene.

There are private matters also that are best handled through inquiry from the Service Unit to the Army's state headquarters. Seeking a missing person or contacting a prisoner up for parole are functions of the Correctional Services and Missing Persons Bureau.

Rehabilitating alcoholics is the life work of the Men's Social Service Centers and the Harbor Light Center.

One of the Army's finest programs is the care given unwed mothers at the Home and Hospital in San Antonio. Young victims of personal tragedy are helped physically and mentally to return to society with a new, improved outlook on life.

Dodson Has Heart Surgery

D. R. Dodson, CISD superintendent, is a patient at St. Luke's Hospital, Houston, following open heart surgery Monday.

A school spokesman said Dodson was in good condition Tuesday. He is expected to remain in the hospital for three weeks.

Yoe, West To Clash

By Marilyn Hauk

After the trench warfare "Battle of the Bell" last Friday night the Yoemen will travel to West to face the unbeaten Trojans tomorrow night, 8 p.m.

The Trojans are a high scoring team with a tremendous defense. They are a large team with good backs, and the Trojans have the advantage of being on their home field.

Injuries this week include Lonnie Scott, who is ill. David Hollas, recovering from a knee injury, may see light action.

In last week's game Sam Knight led in rushing with 79 yards in 19 carries, an average of 4.2. Richard Cummings gained 63 yards in 11 carries, an average of 5.7 William Whiteside in 7 carries gained 33 yards. Jimmy Bailey, with 5 yards had an average of 2.5 in 2 carries.

Cummings completed 2 of 6 passes for 26 yards with 1 interception. Will Turner completed 10 out of 22 for 34 yards. Jackie Chubb led in receiving with 8 for 91 yards. Cummings received 2 for 16 yards, Whiteside 1 for 11, and Knight 1 for 10.

Cummings had an average of 34.2 yards with 7 punts.

School Needs Analyzed By City Planners

(Second in a series about Cameron's recently completed general plan which is a guide for the city's growth for the next 20 years.)

To meet the public school needs projected through 1990, plus those not met at this time, the following analysis and recommendations are made by planners, working with Schools Supt. D. R. Dodson:

The site upon which the present high school and two elementary schools are located is substantially under-sized (16.7 acres as compared to the recommended minimum of 42-50 acres). Consequently, options to purchase land should be taken and the property acquired as soon as possible for all property between 10th and 15th Streets.

This will increase the total school site area to approximately 25 acres. This is still less than the desirable minimum requirements, but due to the multi-use of facilities, should be sufficient. Additional land for vocational shops, etc. could be purchased east of Washington Avenue as this area is presently undeveloped.

The site upon which the present junior high is located is 3.2 acres which is also significantly less than the recommended minimum of 16-18 acres. It is recommended that the CISD acquire the 13 to 15 acres of land located between Orchard Street and the City Limits and West 8th Street and West 6th Street. This site is approximately 70 percent vacant and abuts the present Junior High site on its western flank.

Maximum site integration can be achieved by closing Orchard Street at its intersection with West 6th Street and by closing West 7th Street at its intersection with Orchard Streeet.

This new acreage will perform a dual function of giving the Junior High the minimum recommended area requirements and serving as a neighborhood park and playfield.

CHANGE PROPOSED

A consolidated campus such as that now comprising Yoe, Milam and Henderson schools, has many advantages. However, it appears that an improvement to the present system would be accomplished by changing the Junior High School to an elementary school and Ada Henderson School to a junior high school.

Such an arrangement would:

1. Place elementary schools closer to the neighborhoods they serve;

2. Allow the junior high school students to take vocational classes through an effective utilization of vocational shops located on or to be built at the high school site;

3. Provide better library facilities through the consolidation of both the junior high and senior high school libraries;

4. Allow for a consolidated and more efficient busing system by allowing a consolidated bus terminal.

It should be noted, however, that if such a rearrangement of schools were to be successfully executed, very careful attention must be given to the delineation of elementary school service area boundary lines in order not to create a de-facto segregation situation.

HIGH SCHOOL

The present high school site complex is in need of multi-school use facilities such as auditorium, field house, cafeteria, as well as the construction of additional vocational shops.

The main campus should be consolidated by closing those sections of 12th and 13th, which lie within the campus, to all through traffic, thus creating a better integrated pedestrian campus. (This action effectively closes those in-campus sections of Milam and Lamar Ave.).

If the property east of Washington and south of 15th is added to the campus, the appropriate sections of Washington, 12th, and 13th Streets should be closed, and Burns Avenue re-routed to join Lee Avenue at Lee's intersection with 12th Street. Not only would this improve the appearance and safety within the campus, but it would also serve to provide more usable space to the campus.

The standard life of school buildings has been estimated to be 50 years. Both Yoe High School and Ada Henderson Elementary will reach this age in the 1970s.

It is recommended that plans begin for replacement of these structures in the form of a joint junior - senior high school facility. This proposed new structure could be constructed on a new site acquired east of Washington, south of West 15th Street, and north of West 14th Street.

Next: parks and public buildings.

COUNTY'S FIRST LANDFILL is being readied for Minerva residents. The landfill will fill a large, curving ravine on Joe Tomerlin's property. Fencing is being installed which will be moved to another location when the site is full. This will be the only trench-type landfill for use by county residents

Bigger Type...

If some reading type on pages of this edition seems larger, it is.

Leaving little left of the old, your Herald now introduces 9 point reading type, which contrasted to the 8-point size, is measureably easier to read.

This is the last edition in which the comparison is possible, except in classified readers and some special copy. We are dropping the smaller type.

Heightened readership for every age and taste is the goal of your Herald. That is why we have Reuters International, Carr Football Ratings, more and more feature pictures, continuing local coverage of city and Milam area, all aiming to please a variety of readership.

Each page of each edition now is departmentalized for immediate recognition of content. And the larger type is to make that content more legible.

Your growing support encourages these changes. And we hope pictures and words that much more useful in your daily life.

Exasperation...

The price of leadership is exasperation.

It is convenient, and emotionally more healthy, to cry out and rant when that is the response to constructive, complex effort and planning.

Sometime, the only advantage is the knowledge of a goal. And that is little recompense when it is inarticulable until "things work out."

They don't always work out. Alternatives, the lesser choices are incorporated, until something, an idea, a group, an individual moves from A to B. The path may not be a path at all, but an obscure battlefield that obviates the straight line or even deflects the direction to an alternative goal.

"See," the critics say, "he didn't make it all the way."

"How do you know?" says a half - objective bystander. "You aren't even sure what a goal is. You smother ambition with your lack of it."

A leader can't say that. He hasn't time. Argument and hatred are misspent luxury. And if you're going somewhere and even only get partway, you haven't time for the snipers.

Ask anyone who tries to go from A to B. You'll find him starting off or somewhere between, exasperated.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

POST OFFICE SLUMS CITED IN HEARINGS

REP. ROBERT N.C. NIX (Pa.) "...The Postal Facilities and Mail Subcommittee of which I am chairman has been holding hearings on the squalid working conditions in the Postal Service.

"Yesterday, we heard the strongest indictment of the Postal Service to come to my attention in all the years I have been in Congress.." (Excerpts from one of the hearings follow):

For the record my name is James H. Rademacher and I am President of the National Association of Letter Carriers. Mr. Chairman and Members of the Committee if you have delicate stomachs, you may have difficulty reading this report in its entirety.

Some of the places in which postal employees must work are so disgusting they would turn the stomach of a not-too finicky baboon. They have to be seen--and smelt--to be believed.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (Camden Station): The one toilet is co-educational.

ROCHESTER, Minn.: This is a brand new facility. Already the furnace cuts out completely on the coldest days and men sort mail in their mittens.

BALTIMORE, Md. (Clifton Station): The only "show case" detail in this filthy hole concerns the toilets which face plain glass windows at the street level so the public can look in on the men on the stools. Station is rat infested.

ARLINGTON, Va. (South Station): Raw sewage is constantly seeping out onto the floor. The only place the employees can eat is a table right next to this restroom.

CHULA VISTA, Calif.: The Rancho Del Rey Station's cesspool has overflowed and is overflowing. The soil, evidently can no longer handle the action.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (Station O): This station is a complete headache. The elevator is unsafe. Conveyor belt has no safeguards on the sides. Relays fall off the belt and it's a wonder no one has not been maimed for life.

HUSTON, Texas. (Southmore Station): The roof leaks so badly the washroom floor was being flooded with every sizable rain. Management went to the heart of the matter. It placed a 24 gallon can to catch the rain.

FORT WAYNE, Ind.: The windows are barred and there is only one door. In case of a fire, explosion, or some similar disaster the trapped men wouldn't have a chance.

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (Crane St. Station): The water "system" is grotesque. For at least 6 months there has been no water in the urinals. The stench is overpowering.

(Limited space precludes a full report)

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT

There is absolutely no connection between the Post Office Slum report and the recent opening of the $70 million John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C.--J.C.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editar:

It is now pretty well established, at least in the minds of newspaper and magazine columnists I've been reading, that the United States has lost a lot of its prestige around the world, so much so for example that Paris airlines last week began refusing to take U.S. dollars for plane tickets.

This has a lot of people worried, excusing me, as I don't ever remember waking up and wondering what my prestige was that day in the capitals of the world although I have a pretty good notion what it is across my neighbor's fence. I'll return his hoe just as soon as I find out which patch of weeds it is that has grown up around it.

None the less, a lot of leaders are saying we've got to do something about our world standing, we've got to restore our image as the world's most prosperous nation.

They couldn't be wronger.

The thing for us to do is to go all out encouraging the notion we're hard up. Paint the picture black and bleak. Why just last night I read that the Chancellor of Austria, reviewing the balance of payment difficulties the United States is having, said "the time has come for European nations to remember the generous help given them by the U.S. after World War II and repay part of their debt."

I've for gotten how many billions of dollars we loaned them, but if we've now convinced them we're in such bad shape they ought to start repaying at least part of it, we're on the right track. Let's fan that fire from all directions. Tell our diplomats abroad to start wearing rumpled suits and carrying their lunches in paper sacks. Have their wives dress in last year's clothes and run ads offering to do baby sitting. Have foreign visitors come by here to see the loose boards on my front porch and go on to Washington to examine the national debt. Get the power company to turn off the electricity in the U.S. Capitol and put out the word it was for failure to pay the bill. Then hit Europe up for a loan to get us back on our feet.

Speaking of balance of payments, I don't quite understand it on the world level but I know what it is on the local level. It means fourteen more payments and that television set is yours.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

SWC Supervisor Elections Set

By Bill McCutchen

There will be two Soil and Water Conservation District Supervisor elections in Milam County in the near future. These are important elections and I hope eligible voters will plan to attend.

The first election will concern subdivision No. 3 of the Central Texas Soil and Water Conservation District No. 509. Edwin F. Fischer of Buckholts is the present director. This subdivision includes Cameron, Buckholts, Maysfield, Branchville, Ben Arnold, Burlington, and Yarrelton areas. Eligible voters are anyone owning farm or ranch lands in this subdivision and residing in the county.

The election and meeting will be held at 8 p.m., October 4 at the Vocational Agriculture building in Buckholts. In addition to the election, Carl Young, area Conservationist from Temple will present a program on the "Great Plains Program". This topic is very timely as there are possibilities of this program being extended to include Milam County.

The second election will be held in the Sharp Community, October 5. The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Presbyterian church at Sharp.

This election will concern subdivision No. 3 of the Little River-San Gabriel Soil and Water Conservation District No. 508, which includes the San Gabriel, Tracy, Sharp, Davilla and Val Verde communities. This subdivision is presently served by Henry Abel.

David Myer, District Conservationist with the SCS from Bartlett will present a program to the group also on the Great Plains Program. All eligible voters and others interested are welcome and encouraged to attend.

ECOLOGY

A lot of people are talking ecology, but few are doing anything about it. The Industrial Generating Company of Rockdale is an exception. They have installed antipollution devices at their plant and are also in the process of beautifying the strip-mined areas around the plant.

They have been working through the County Extension Service and Texas A&M in establishing coastal, common bermuda, and Gulf Ryegrass and also intend to make test plantings of trees in the spoil areas.

Ken Erman is the young man representing IGC who is working on this project and judging from his enthusiasm and drive I would say that things will happen.

ANGUS ASSOCIATION

I had the opportunity of visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Preston Perry of Rockdale recently and they inform me that the "Central Texas Angus Association" has been organized. They said that there are a lot of members in Milam County from all over this area. Henry Whitworth of Austin is president and Preston Perry is serving as vice-president of the organization.

The next meeting will be November 2nd at 6:30 p.m. in the New Salem Clubhouse at Rockdale. You will be receiving more information on this meeting later.

Ag Big Business

Today's agriculture, largest U.S. industry, employs 7 million workers. With an investment of $297 billion, the value of agriculture equals more than half of that of all U.S. corporations. Average per farm worker investment is $69,006 and the value of farm products reaches more than $48 billion a year.

Foods Of Future To Be Different

COLLEGE STATION

Foods made from fungus, swamp gas, auto exhaust gas, oil, molds and algae?

Although they may sound far out, we may actually be eating such foods some day, says Sally Springer, Extension foods and nutrition specialist at Texas A&M University.

Food technologists and nutritionists at the Western Hemisphere Nutrition Congress held recently in Miami, Florida, discussed some of these possibilities, the specialist explains.

One possibility may be single cell protein, an edible food product, made by bacteria, yeast or molds. Some microorganisms have the ability to turn gas and oil, for instance, into edible, valuable protein foods. Protein is the food element most needed by the world's malnourished populations, Miss Springer reminds.

Other researchers are working with bacteria that can turn cellulose--the most abundant organic substance on earth--to food. If the experiments are successful, such bacteria might be able to convert a bag of household trash into a meal as healthy as a thick steak.

According to the specialist, the basis of these experiments is this: A cow eats grass, mostly cellulose, and it becomes protein and steak. Various scientists believe that bacteria, in controlled operations, may be able to do the same, thus supplying cheap, virtually endless protein for the world's growing population.

The specialist also reports the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is developing methods to make food from human breath. They hope to use this to supplement food supplies on long space voyages.

So, Miss Springer concludes, as we look to the future, foods will be different for our children's children.

FARM and CITY

WHOSE FARM IS THIS? The Herald still has a few aerial photos of Milam County farms that hae not been identified. If you recognize this farm, come in and claim the photo -- it is free. The photos were taken in 1958, so some changes may have occurred on the farms.

The Wage-Price Freeze

Internal Revenue Service

This column of questions and answers on the Wage and Price Freeze is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service. The column answers questions most frequently asked about the Wage and Price Freeze announced August 15 by President Nixon.

Q - I'll be getting out of the army in two weeks and returning to my old job. Can I receive the pay increases I would have gotten if I had not been in the Service?

A - Yes. Veterans returning to their pre-military employment during the freeze are entitled to all the increases they would have received had they not served in the military. Employees are hired at the pay scale in existence during the 30-day base period of July 16 to August 14.

Q - Are welfare payments covered bv the freeze?

A - No. Welfare payments are not covered by the freeze. They are not payments for services rendered and, therefore, are not wages.

Q - I'm a teacher. During the summer I received my master's degree and, as a result, I was to receive a pay increment this fall. Can I still get it?

A - Yes. Pay increments for teachers who receive their master's and other scheduled pay raises dependent upon employees completing certain educational requirements may be paid during the freeze, because these actions are bona fide promotions. The employer, however, must be able to certify that such an agreement was in existence.

If the effective date of the teacher's contract is after August 15, the increment must be no more than the amount that was granted last year.

Q - Can my city governement increase rates for gas and electricity?

A - No. State or local governments may not increase charges or fees for government-provided services. However, state and local tax rates, and fees for licenses or legal penalties, such as traffic tickets, are not frozen.

Q - Can merchants pass on to consumers the cost of an increasein state or local taxes?

Q - What are some of the food products not subject to the freeze?

A - Raw agricultural products, such as fresh fruit and vegatables, fresh fish and seafood, honey, and other products that retain the same physical form they possessed when they left the farm gate, are not covered by the freeze.

All other agricultural and food products, such as frozen foods, slaughtered meats, etc., would be considered processed and subject to the freeze.

Q - The lease on my apartment is about to expire. I know my landlord has raised rents for new tenants in similar apartments. Can he now raise my rent?

A - No. If a tenant's lease expires, his rent may not be raised to the level being paid by new tenents in similar units.

4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

By Danny Phillips

National 4-H Week will be celebrated by the over 100,000 4-H members in Texas, October 3-9. In Milam County over 250 members will be actively engaged in promoting their organization by doing "their own thing", through many activities and functions.

4-H'ers will be telling people about their club and the activities they participate in through means. 4-H Council has purchased 3 street banners that will be erected in Cameron, Rockdale and Thorndale. The banners will proclaim 4-H week and invited youth of all ages to join. This year's theme will be " 4-H Bridges the Gap". 4-H can help bridge many gaps in a young person's life through learning by doing and participating in fun activities with youth of similar ages.

In connection with this, colorful 4-H posters will be displayed in businesses throughout the county.

A radio program will be taped and will be presented over the local radio. Also, spot announcements will be used to add interest to the program.

To climax the week the annual Awards Banquet will be held Saturday, Oct. 9 at the New Salem Home Demonstration Club House in Rockdale. The meal cost will be $1.75 a plate and will be prepared by the H.D. Club women.

Over 50 Milam 4-H'ers will receive awards at this program. Also, the Gold Star Boy and Girls will be announced and the winners of the Mr. and Miss 4-H Contest.

Last year's Gold Star winners were Deborah Stephens of Rockdale and Clyde Jistel of Cameron. Cathy Garza and Michael Janak of Rockdale were winners in the Mr. and Miss Contest.

4-H NEWSLETTER

A monthly 4-H news letter will soon be ready for mailing to 4-H'ers throughout the county. The first will be a summary of past activities and will be followed up with monthly news letters giving attention to club activities, personalities, project meetings held during that month. If you have suggestions on how to improve the letter, let me know. Thanks.

Cottonseed May Be Food Of Future

Glandless cottonseed may be the food of the future.

According to University of Texas Natural Fibers Economic Research (formerly Cotton Economic Research), the day may not be very far off when people will be eating toasted cottonseed nuts and cottonseed brittle candy.

The glandless cottonseed, besides providing flour, could be used as a substitute for casein (a milk derivative) in baking products, powered coffee creamers and ice cream mixes. A big plus factor for the cottonseed is its adaptability to most of the countries that have fast population growth, but acute food and protein shortages.

UT Weather Men Have Tower Project

Austin's famous "moonlight towers" soon will be used during the daytime as well as at night.

With approval of the City Council, University of Texas meteorologists will place weather instruments on various towers at different heights up to 145 feet.

"The data we will obtain are essential for improved understanding of how, and to what extent, the city affects the atmosphere," said Dr. Norman K. Wagner, associate professor of meteorology at the University.

It is hoped that the project will lead to more extensive studies that will affect the layout, construction and environmental design of other cities in the nation.

RURAL MINISTER OF YEAR

Jim Ford, pastor of the Wolfe City Church of Christ in Hunt County is the Texas Rural Minister of the Year. He will be honored during the annual Town and Country Church Conference October 14-15 at Texas A&M University, according to Reagan Brown. Extension sociologist.

COLD FOODS

Avoid refrigerating cooked foods a second time after they have been reheated for serving, say Extension foods and nutrition specialists.

Rural Labor Studied At UT

Prospects for small farmers in Southern agriculture are one of many aspects of rural labor markets being studied under a new research project at The University of Texas.

The study on rural labor markets is being made by UT's Center for the Study of Human Resources, under a grant from the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity.

The project aims at producing information that will be useful to planners who devise public policies affecting the operation of labor markets.

FARM NEWS

STATE4-H HORSE SHOW

The State 4-H Horse Show will be unreeled Sept. 23-25 in the Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum in Fort Worth. About 400 4-H'ers from throughout Texas are expected to compete for top honors, notes B. F. Yeates, Extension horse specialist. Final competition in all the regular performance events will be Saturday evening at 7:30.

PEANUT FIELD DAY

Peanut producers over the state are invited to a Peanut Field Day at the Texas A&M University Plant Disease Research Station at Yoakum on Sept. 30 at 1 p.m. Discussions will be featured on varieties and disease and insect control, reports Dr. Arthur Harrison, research director at the station.

SCREWWORM CASES UP

Screwworm cases continue to climb in Texas and officials of the Mission Screwworm Program expect the situation to worsen. Nineteen cases were confirmed during the week ending Sept. 3, making this the worst week since the last week in December, 1968. Furthermore, 16 cases were confirmed during the past Labor Day Weekend. All livestock producers are urged to be on the alert.

Shopping Simplified

Marked changes are ahead for food retailing before the end of the 1970's. This is the way some crystal ball gazers see it: The trend toward larger stores located in shopping centers will continue and stores will be elaborate and complex, carrying many items other than food. The advent of in-home shopping (through use of cable TV), may be common before 1980.

GROWTH AND QUALITY

Hays cut at an early stage of growth have a higher protein content than those harvested at a mature stage, so when making hay, don't forsake quality for quantity, advise Extension pasture specialists. Harvesting young plants means lower yield per cutting, but the total yields per year are, in many cases, just as high as if the crop had been allowed to grow tall.

PROTECTING OUR SOIL

American farmers and ranchers spend millions of dollars every year to protect our soil and water supplies and to stop pollution. As members of 3,000 local soil and water conservation districts across the Nation, farmers have improved more than 575 million acres of private land, reports the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Last year along farmers and ranchers built 30,000 miles of terraces to stop flood waters from washing away valuable top soil. They planted trees on 340,000 acres, managed 5 million acres for wildlife, and raised the Nation's total of recreation ponds to 2 million. All these environmental practices are improving the quality of our land, air and water.

You'll find Buick's Skylark in a price class you're very used to. But with a lot of things that might be very new to you.

Like Buick comfort. The rich cloth seats standard in our new Skylark 350. Thick carpeting. Even a deluxe steering wheel.

And the Buick ride. Smooth and quiet.

Plus Buick engineering and performance. A standard 350-cubic-inch V8 that's responsive, yet economical. With Buick technical advances like nickel-plated engine exhaust valves and a semi-closed cooling system.

This year, perhaps more than ever before, you ought to consider getting all this Buick-ness. Especially when you can get it Skylark-priced.

Household Hints

The prime part of the outdoor cookery season is just ahead. Make this a year to remember, suggests Marshall Miller, Extension poultry marketing specialist, by featuring broilers or fryers often. They are easy to prepare and the meat is tasty and nutritious. It can be the most economical main course available. It's no trick at all to serve chicken barbecue for as little as 50 to 75 cents per serving, including the trimmings. A copy of MP-312, "Chicken Barbecue," available from the county Extension office will help make your next barbecue even better.

Balanced Breakfast Vital For Children

By Christine Laws

With your kids rushing off to school these mornings, it's time to ask yourself whether or not you will be contributing to their bad grades! You could be if they leave the house without a balanced breakfast to get them off to a good start.

September is "Better Breakfast Month" and what better time to evaluate your kids' eating habits than right now at the beginning of a new school year. Slighting breakfast is not good at any age, and is particularly harmful for youngsters and teenagers. The body needs refueling regularly and breakfast is the meal that follows the longest stretch of non-eating in the whole day.

Without an adequate breakfast, research has shown that fatigue sets in earlier, irritability is increased, work output is reduced, and all reaction time slows down. School children and teenagers do not learn as easily, lack energy and sometimes become behaviour problems.

Help your kids start the school year out right by serving them "better breakfasts" now and throughout the year. By making breakfast time a family affair and by using plentiful foods, you can form a morning habit that will benefit every member of the family, whether he goes to school, to the office, or to the housework!

Eggs are in plentiful supplies right now, so plan a nutritious breakfast around them every morning. With a little imagination you can vary the standard "sunny-side" or scrambled egg with egg-enriched breakfast, drinks, using milk and fruit juices, or ever-favorite French toast.

And all kids like peanut butter--which is also among September Plentiful Foods, so give the morning a boost with Peanut Butter French Toast.

1/4 cup peanut butter
2/3 cup milk
2 slightly beaten eggs
10 slices enriched bread

Combine peanut butter and milk. Add eggs. Dip slices of bread into mixture, coating both sides. Place slices on a well-greased cookie sheet and brown in hot oven (450 degrees F.) for about ten minutes. Turn toast and continue browning. Serve with jelly, preserves or honey. Makes 5 servings -- 2 slices toast per serving.

To complete this breakfast idea, serve a wedge of juicy melon or icy fruit juice, crisp slices of bacon, and tall glasses of fresh creamy milk.

With teenagers especially thriving on snacks these days, why not tempt them into the better breakfast habit by starting them off with Mocha Milk Shakes. There's no reason why they can't eat favorite things for breakfast.

2 tablespoons instant coffee
1/4 cup warm water
1 cup instant nonfat dry milk
4 - 1/2 cups cold, whole milk
1 quart chocolate ice cream shaved chocolate for topping

Dissolve instant coffee in warm water. Mix nonfat dry milk with whole milk and add to coffee mixture. Blend thoroughly. Add softened chocolate ice cream and beat or shake just enough to blend ingredients. Pour into tall glasses and serve immediately with shaved chocolate decorations. Makes six 1 1/3 cup servings. Even mom and dad will "dig" that kind of breakfast treat!

Don't relegate the family's favorite foods just to lunch and dinner menus. Try some of them for breakfast and see how fast the "Better Breakfast" idea catches on in your home!

It is a beautiful afternoon, and Ken and Monica might have gone for a ride in the country. But they've come to the hospital to visit a classmate.

It isn't always a "fun" thing to visit someone in the hospital, to call on an elderly aunt, or to take a gift to a shut-in. But usually you feel better when you do.

This is a "hurry up" world we're living in. We tell ourselves that there isn't time for the little kindnesses. There isn't time for a lot of things — like, maybe, going to church.

Who are we kidding? Ourselves, perhaps?

Keeping a promise to continue its styling, Chevrolet's fast selling economy car adds interior refinements such as a glove box and a perforated headliner for all models. Standard front disc brakes, steel side door beams and an exclusive aluminum overhead cam engine are among Vega's features. 1972 Chevrolets will be introduced September 23.

1972 Chevrolet Quality 'Best In Company History'

DETROIT

John Z. DeLorean, general manager, pledged that the 1972 models scheduled for public introduction September 23 will be the best in Chevrolet's history.

"From the luxury Caprice to the economy Vega," DeLorean said, "we have limited the changes in our 1972 models to refinements and product improvements, while we concentrate on building each car better than ever before.

"Every one of our car lines is designed to meet the consumer emphasis on maximum value and quality in an autmotive purchase.

"By providing with our 1972 models a better, more trouble-free way to see America, we hope to stimulate new public awareness of the individual freedom for enjoyable family travel offered by the automobile."

He said new manufacturing and assembly and quality audit procedures and motivational programs to stimulate added pride of workmanship among Chevrolet's 100,000 employes are among steps toward improved quality.

DeLorean also said the division is implementing new programs to guide Chevrolet dealers in giving improved customer service.

NEW STYLING

The full-sized Chevrolet for 1972 has new front and rear styling. It also has heavier, stronger bumpers that extend farther away from the body sheet metal as part of the improved bumper impact protection.

Chevelle, Monte Carlo and Camaro have front end styling refinements and all car lines including Station Wagons, Nova and Corvette have engine, chassis and durability improvements. An anti-theft warning system becomes standard on Corvette.

Chevrolet's newest car -- the top selling Vega -- keeps its promise of styling continuity. Improvements include addition of a glovebox and the availability during the model year of an optional Turbo Hydramatic three-speed automatic transmission.

Chevrolet continues to offer the industry's widest assortment of station wagons in 1972. Big Chevrolet - styled wagons have the Glide - Away disappearing tailgate; the mid - size Chevelle-styled wagons have dual-action gates and the small Vega Kammback has a one-piece rear window-gate that swings up for easy accessibility.

IMPROVED EXHAUST

All Chevrolet engines for 1972 have improved exhaust emission controls. As was the case in 1971, all engines have been designed to operate efficiently and with lower exhaust emissions on regular, low-lead or no-lead gasoline.

Chevrolet for 1972 publishes net or as-installed horsepower ratings. The net test method follows the recommended procedure of the Society of Automotive Engineers and simulates actual performance as installed in an automobile.

Every 1972 Chevrolet has extensive safety features for occupant protection, accident prevention and anti-theft protection.

Chevrolet offers 15 Magic Mirror colors for 1972, of which 10 are new. There are six two-tone color combinations. New for 1972 are a "wet look" appearance of the five vinyl roof colors and a single, wider white stripe on optional whitewall tires.

The industry's top selling car line has a new tailored look to the most luxurious car Chevrolet has ever built.

The hood is squared off and the low-set grille is flanked by individualized twin headlights and recessed front fender lights. Mounting of the license plate on the right front of the car gives the grille a more open look.

INCREASED PROTECTION

The increased front and rear bumper protection on Chevrolets for 1972 is provided by a bumper - within - a - bumper design. Heavy gauge beams reinforce the bumper and are firmly attached to the frame. Important clearances are increased between the bumper and body sheet metal.

Turn signals are built into the from bumper and traditional Chevrolet triple taillight units are built into the rear bumper. A horizontal resilient strip to cushion slight impacts is standard on Caprice bumpers and optional on others.

The nine Caprice, Impala, Bel Air and Biscayne models feature rounded glass and body contours with emphasis upon passenger visibility and interior roominess.

There is added body insulation in 1972 to reduce interior sound level for a quieter ride. The power flow-through ventilation system has outlets built into door pillars for more accurate control of air flow.

CHECK WRITING OLD

Men have been writing checks for more than 2,700 years. Demosthenes mentioned the practice in the 9th century B.C., and Roman plays refer to depositing money and withdrawing it by check.

Weather Throws Curve At Texas Hunter This Season

AUSTIN

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials say overall hunting prospects this fall appear only "fair" for the major game species -- deer, turkey, quail and squirrel.

And early reports from the field indicate the North Zone mourning dove season which opened this month also has been less than spectacular.

The weather, which always is a key factor in wildlife production, played some nasty tricks in 1971. A bone dry winter and early spring was followed by rains and even flooding in many areas by mid-summer.

This pattern of extremes had mixed effect on wildlife, department officials point out. Reproduction of both furred and feathered game was doen in virtually the entire state, with turkeys and quail perhaps suffering the heaviest losses from the weather.

Texas is expected to remain the nation's number one deer state, with a continuing herd of around 3,000,000 animals. But hunters will see fewer young deer in most areas this year and a shortage of heavily antlered bucks is expected because of poor forage conditions in the spring.

The nearest thing to a disaster area in the state this year may be the South Texas brush country, which normally is one of the top hunting areas. Chances for good turkey and quail populations are almost nil, according to field surveys, and the deer situation is described as "fair."

Officials point out that as bad as conditions were this year they could have been worse. The drought and lack of food could have led to a major deer die-off during the winter, but extremely mild temperatures helped avert it. Likewise, the drought could have been disastrous in some areas if it had lasted just a few weeks longer.

With the last rains, forage began to improve and game birds renewed their nesting efforts. The success of these late hatches is yet to be completely determined, but they can make or break the upcoming season, particularly in the case of quail.

Because of the weather, officials wouldn't care to pick a "hunting hotspot" area in the state this year. Each region will have its pluses and minuses, depending on local conditions.

Hunting for deer and turkey in the traditionally good hunting areas such as the Edwards Plateau, Trans-Pecos and South Texas probably will be fair to good because of a carry-over from last year's generally heavy populations.

Choose Upholstery With Spot Release Finish, Says Expert

COLLEGE STATION

Sticky-fingered children and spill-prone adults --- possible hazards for your upholstered furniture!

But they need not be, says Pat Bradshaw, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist at Texas A&M University, if you choose a fabric specially treated to repel spots.

Stain and soil - repellent finishes are well worth looking for when you are buying upholstered furniture or selecting fabric to reupholster an older piece, reminds the specialist.

Check the label or hangtag for information stating water-based or oil-based stains will bead up on the fabric surface. Then, they can be easily blotted with a soft cloth.

And, if you're considering velvet for upholstery fabric, a spot-shed treatment is also available. According to the specialist, it makes liquids, such as syrups, inks, ketchup and soft drinks, easy to remove from the surface with a clean cloth and water. Oil or grease stains will respond with a little cleaning fluid.

Remember these finishes are not miracle workers, Miss Bradshaw cautions. If you let stains set for a period of time, you may have a hard time removing them. So wipe up spills immediately to take advantage of the special finishes.
